G. N. Titus returned from the state fair at Omaha last Friday. He feels well rewarded for his labors in gathering up fruits for a display at Omaha, as Nemaha county took first premium. She won by only three points, and her success was due greatly to the fact that every variety of apples named by Nat was correctly named—there was not a single mistake. Nat is well posted on all fruit questions.

James A. Titus has lived in Nemaha county for over 42 years, and thought he had seen the most of it, but we took him up in London precinct on Monday and showed him a section of the country in the hills that he never saw before—and doesn't care much if he never sees it again. He walked part of the way, as he was afraid of the cart falling over on the horse going down hill, and was afraid of the horse falling on the cart going up hill. He says if he lived there he would always stay at home, as he would be afraid to go away.

Jim Banks had a runaway Wednesday. He was coming into town from the south when John C. Boyd, of St. Deroin, undertook to pass him. Jim's horses became frightened, but he managed to control them until Mr. Boyd got past, when one bit broke, and Jim had to let them go. They ran into Boyd's spring wagon, breaking every spoke out of one wheel, and also broke the tongue of the wagon they were hitched to. They ran on up town, leaving the wagon behind, and were stopped without further damage.

Mrs. Rachel Weddel called in Wednesday afternoon and told us of a little trouble she had Saturday night. Her dog kept barking for some time and could not be quieted. She finally got up to go to the door, but thought she would look out of the window first. Just as she looked out someone threw a heavy piece of iron at the dog, striking the gate. Some people have advised Mrs. Weddel to have certain parties arrested, but as she has no proof against any one she will not attempt to do this. All she asks is that she be allowed to live in quietness hereafter unmolested by any one. She has a hard time anyway, and should be helped and not bothered.

OUR TICKET.

The republicans nominated a ticket composed of first class men last Saturday.

For treasurer Robert M. Gillan, of Auburn, was nominated. He has been a resident of Nemaha county for eleven or twelve years. Much of that time he has been engaged in business in Auburn, and he has gained a large number of friends. He is popular, capable, honest, and will make an excellent treasurer.

For county clerk Jos. A. Winters, of London precinct, was nominated. Mr. Winters has lived in this county all his life. He is an active, energetic young man, well educated, well adapted for the position to which he aspires. He is all right, and will be all right as county clerk.

Wm. H. Hill is the nominee for sheriff. Mr. Hill has been deputy sheriff for four years, and everybody—democrats and populists as well as republicans—admit that he has made an excellent official. When he goes after a man he gets him, no matter how far away he may have to travel. He will draw votes from all parties, as a great many will vote for him because they know he will make a good sheriff. He has been tried and found true to his trust.

For county judge the republicans have nominated James M. Anderson, of Johnson. Mr. Anderson has taught school for several years in Johnson. He is finely educated. For two years he studied law, and since then has devoted much of his time to the study of common law but has never applied for admission to the bar. He is well qualified for judge. For some time he has been justice of the peace for Washington precinct, and has made a good justice.

James M. Hacker, who has been surveyor for many years, was renominated by acclamation.

Dr. John B. Jack, of Brownville, was nominated for coroner by acclamation. Dr. Jack is a young man, but has proved himself to be a successful practitioner. He is thoroughly posted in his profession, very popular, and will be all right as coroner.

Wm. M. Davis has made such a good record during the last three years as county commissioner that he was renominated by acclamation. Mr. Davis is conscientious, careful, and looks as carefully after the interest of the county as he would after his own. Everybody has a good word to say for Commissioner Davis.

Taken all through, the ticket is far better than the average. All the nominees are well qualified for the positions for which they are running. If they are elected the county will be well served.

Mr. Haggerty was sick last week from an attack of bilious diarrhoea, but was able to work Friday and Saturday. Sunday he was compelled to seek his bed again and he continued to grow worse until he died. The direct cause of his death was chronic heart failure, which was superinduced by the bilious attack.

His wife, who is living at Council Bluffs, was telegraphed for and arrived at six o'clock the same evening, and accompanied the remains to Council Bluffs for burial.

Deceased was popular with his associates and had many warm friends in this city who mourn his untimely death.—Herald.
